

Brief Summary

The main concerns shared by callers to Radio Ergo's feedback platform this week (7-13 September 2021) were drought and water shortages especially experienced in central and some southern regions; concerns around the forced displacement from Lasanod; and general livelihood distress including weak, sick or dying livestock, and rising food prices. Some callers shared the arrival of rainfall in their areas. The following summarises the calls by theme.

Drought and water crisis – most calls this week came from Mudug, Galgadud, and Hiran, and southern regions especially Bay, L. Shabelle and L. Juba. Callers in Mudug said the drought had been prolonged, affecting people and their animals, and they had no aid responders there. One asked for more information on weather forecasts. In Galgadud, callers spoke of rising temperatures and drought, with livestock sick or dying. In Bay region, there were callers from Baidoa, Bardale, Ufurow, Dinsor, and Qansahdhere. Some said they were losing their livestock.

Lasanod displacement – many callers from northern, central and southern regions complained about the treatment of those forced out of Lasanod. A female caller in Garowe said she was among those evicted. She said she was pregnant with her sixth child and needed transport to move to Galkayo. Another victim in Puntland said he had lost his property, land and business. A caller in Beletweyne said evicted people had arrived there and need assistance. A caller in Dollow called on human rights groups to help the victims to recover their property. One caller in Somaliland said he supported the purge for security reasons.

Locusts - callers mainly in Puntland and Mudug complained of the return of locusts that were destroying vegetation.

Food security & IDPs – callers in Bari and Mudug complained of rising food prices and shortages. IDP callers in Beletweyne and Baidoa wanted water aid. An IDP caller in Mogadishu said shelters had been damaged by rain.

Rainfall – callers in some parts of Togdher, Sanag, and Nugal celebrated rainfall in their areas. There were also calls about the arrival of rain from parts of Galgadud and M. Shabelle.

COVID19 – callers continued to ask questions to the Radio Doctor about Coronavirus, with some observing spread of the disease in their areas.
